Xlibris Corporation. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Hardcover. 188 pages. Dimensions: 9.1in. x 6.1in. x 0.8in. Environmental Dramas featured in EcoTheater for the Global Village Three plays that confront environmental issues from an adult as well as a child's perspective are featured in EcoTheater for the Global Village, recently published by Xlibris, a strategic partner of Random House. Featured are G. Thomson Frasers, Giants in the Wilderness, and two children's theater dramas, MacKenzie Louise Coffmans, Forest Hideout, and Rebekah Lovat Frasers The Tree and the Village. Harold Wood, education chairman for the environmentally-focused Sierra Club, was the inspiration behind the book. He contacted G. Thomson Fraser about her play, Giants in the Wilderness and suggested that it be published, along with children's dramas with an environmental theme. Giants in the Wilderness features John Muir, the Scottish naturalist and founder of the Sierra Club, and his role in the birth of the environmental movement in the late 19th century. Wilderness contains a Forestry Chautauqua Prologue and post-play Epilogue by Joseph K. Smith which can be used to open a discussion with the audience. The drama was funded by a grant from the Massachusetts Foundation for the Humanities, a state program of the National Endowment for the Humanities, and matching funds from the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Management's Conservation Trust Fund. Wilderness toured as part of the 1997 Centennial Celebration of the Massachusetts State Forest and Park System. Drama critic Richard Duckett, writing for the Worcester (MA) Telegram and Gazette, characterized Wilderness as a history lesson. By 1896, the destruction of America's forest wilderness had become so rampant many people believed that unless something was done soon, there wouldn't be any wilderness left. . . Three naturalists - John Muir, Charles Sprague Sargent and Gifford Pinchot - had divergent opinions on the best way...
