Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), France, 2012. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.In most PISA-participating countries and economies, the average socio-economic background of students who attend privately managed schools is more advantaged than that of those who attend public schools. Yet in some countries, there is little difference in the socio-economic profiles between public and private schools. Why? An analysis of PISA results finds that while the prevalence of privately managed schools in a country is not related to socio-economic stratification within a school system, the level of public funding to privately managed schools is: the higher the proportion of public funding allocated to privately managed schools, the smaller the socio-economic divide between publicly and privately managed schools. This report also shows that those countries with narrow socio-economic stratification in their education systems not only maximise equity and social cohesion, but also perform well in the PISA survey. Contents: Chapter 1. Management and Funding; Chapter 2. Aspects of Socio-economic Stratification; Chapter 3. School Vouchers and Stratification; Chapter 4. Other School Characteristics Related to Stratification THE OECD PROGRAMME FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENT ASSESSMENT (PISA): PISA focuses on young people s ability to use their knowledge and skills to meet real-life challenges. This orientation reflects a change in the goals and objectives of curricula themselves, which are increasingly concerned with what students can do with what they learn at school and not merely with whether they have mastered specific curricular content. PISA s unique features include its: Policy orientation, which highlights differences in performance patterns and identifies features common to high-performing students, schools and education systems by linking data on learning outcomes with data on student characteristics and other key factors that shape learning in and outside of school. Innovative concept of literacy,...
