COLLECTED PAPERS OF THE MAYO CLINIC AND THE MAYO FOUNDATION VOLUME 1

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 38 pages. Original publisher: Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD : Army Research Laboratory, 2005 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)74284390 Subject: Computer graphics -- Equipment and supplies. Excerpt: . . . monitoring tools available in Ensign. Ensign is a commercial, multipurpose graphics package used on a variety of HPC-related applications, primarily in the area of computational structural mechanics and computational fluid dynamics. The purpose of performing these benchmarks was to give a relative performance value to existing, common workstations used by computational scientists at ARL. This is not an absolute performance value as there are many different types of graphics applications and each has unique characteristics which determine overall performance. However, we hoped to find a trend in performance which would indicate the relative value of commodity machines versus the long-used SGI workstations. The benchmark consists of running five tests from an Ensign command file and is designed to stress the systems graphics, memory and CPU. The initial geometry contains 5, 324 quads and 128, 500 triangles which are duplicated six times, giving a total number of polygons in the test of 37, 944 quads and 771, 204 triangles. The test images are displayed in a 600 500 pixel window. These sizes are typical of data sets routinely visualized by our users. The individual tests consist of the following: 1. Line-drawing test - 360 rotation in 12 increments giving 30 screen refreshes. Generates a total of 73-million lines. 2. Shaded test - 360 rotation in 12 increments giving 30 screen refreshes. Generates 24-million polygons with each part being a single color. 3. Shaded test - same as test no. 2, but with parts colored on a per-vertex basis. 4. Shaded test - same as test no. 3, but rendered in immediate mode...
